

Interpretive Grant Program

Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area (FFNHA) invites its partner organizations to apply for Interpretive Grants.

FFNHA will award small grants ($500-$999) and large grants ($1,000-$3,000) for projects that interpret your site's story and connect it to the heritage area's rich history. Grants will be awarded for projects aligned with the goals of Freedom's Frontier, and one or more of these significant themes: Shaping the Frontier, Missouri Kansas Border War, Enduring Struggles for Freedom. Successful grants will be rooted in a context involving historic events in the heritage area that have broad regional or national impact.

The FFNHA staff is available to assist you as you prepare your application, starting with discussing your project ideas.

Who can apply?

Only organizations located within Freedom's Frontier and with a partnership pledge on file with FFNHA are eligible to apply for these grants.

Other non-profits, 501(c)3 organizations, local and state government agencies located within the 41-counties in western Missouri and eastern Kansas which comprise the heritage can find information on becoming FFNHA partners at: www.freedomsfrontier.org/partners. If you have questions about your organization's eligibility, contact FFNHA staff, or refer to the FFNHA 2009 Management Plan www.freedomsfrontier.org/pages/Planning-Documents (section 4, The Power of Partnership).

Grant recipients should submit quarterly progress reports for their funded projects, including detailed budget reports and cost share and receipts, in order for the organization to be reimbursed for expenses.

A final report must be submitted when the funded project is complete to close the grant.

Organizations with an open interpretive grant may apply for additional FFNHA Interpretive Grant funding after closing a grant.

Tips and Tools for Planning Your Project

These lists and checklists are provided to assist you as you think about and plan your project. The checklists are not part of your application, and need not be included when you submit it.

Getting Started

Eligibility. To apply for a grant, your 501(c)3; local, state or tribal government must be located within the boundaries of FFNHA, and have a signed partnership pledge with FFNHA. (However, FFNHA does not prevent any site or event from forging partnerships or relationships across the boundaries of the National Heritage Area.) Consult the FFNHA 2009 Management Plan for more information and criteria for partnership eligibility.

Communicate. Contact FFNHA to discuss your project by no later than the first of the month in which you are submitting your application and confirm that it is appropriate for our funding sources.

Know what makes a successful project. Projects funded will: involve multiple perspectives; connect to the Freedom's Frontier National Heritage Area themes; have lasting value; and focus on history.

Be strategic. Make sure goals, objectives and funds requested match our criteria. Tailor your application to meet the specifications. Make sure your project is meaningful to the community and has an audience. Projects that will have a lasting impact will be given funding priority.

Follow directions. Write clearly. Follow the application format outlined in pages 3-4 of this packet. Don't skip questions.

Avoid repetition. Less is more!

Create a work plan with a detailed timeline. Include tasks, programs and events on the timeline. Have an action plan to complete your project within a year. Include who'll help you accomplish the items on the timeline, and how you will publicize and promote the project.

Involve co-sponsors or multiple sites. Show how partnering with other organizations and individuals will enhance the project.

Create a budget. Include what the grant will cover, and your cost share. FFNHA grants are reimbursable. For large grants ($1,000-$3,000) applicants must be able to show a cost share of at least half of the amount requested (this can include: in-kind, donated goods and services; staff and volunteer time devoted to the project; supplies, mailing and duplicating; public service announcements and other free publicity; the value of facilities and equipment used in the project; and refreshments).

What can FFNHA interpretive grant funds be used for?

Interpretive projects such as: indoor or outdoor exhibits; audio; podcasts; tour brochures; cell phone tours; video; creative or performing arts programs, including plays, storytelling sessions, readings by authors, or the creation of a public mural

Salary, honorariums and/or travel reimbursements directly related to the project for staff, consultants or others hired to carry out project activities

Publicity and promotional efforts related to the project

Supplies that will be consumed during the project

Rental of equipment such as camcorders, audio equipment, and computers

Grant funds can't be requested for:

Individual scholarships, fellowships, research, or travel

Academic conferences, professional or annual meetings, or programs directed primarily to a single profession or organization; or books and publications, unless directly related to a public program

Bus rental for heritage tours

Programs which advocate social or political action

Social service programs

Building construction, restoration, or preservation

Plaques, memorials

Durable goods and equipment purchases, including computers, computer software, Web site hosting, domain name, and insurance

Courses for academic credit

A project that is to be used primarily as a fundraiser

Any expenses incurred prior to the grant award

Projects that discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, age, or physical abilities

(If you think that something on the list above is essential to your project, discuss it with FFNHA staff during your project consultation. We may be able to assist you with other options.)

Some things to consider when creating a budget:

Project staff. You may request FFNHA grant funds to cover partial salary for the project director and other key staff (generally, 25% or less of total request). Grant writing or other activities prior to the grant award can't be included. Volunteer time may be valued at $23.35/hour in Kansas and $23.96/hour in Missouri. It should be listed as Cost Share. Fringe benefits may be shown as cost share. If the project includes work done in both states, the volunteer time should be averaged between Kansas and Missouri at $23.66/hour.

Honoraria. Payments to speakers, panelists, resource personnel, consultants or other project participants. Be sure the relationship between the amount of money, work to be done, and the person's qualifications is clear. A major talk by a recognized expert involving research demands a higher payment than simple participation on a panel, requiring little preparation.

Travel. Includes mileage, transportation, lodging, and meal expenses for project staff and speakers. Out-of-town travel can be covered by grant funds; in-town travel expenses are cost share. Find current per diem rates at <http://www.gsa.gov/portal/category/100120>.

Promotional expenses. Includes printing and mailing brochures, invitations, flyers, posters, and other items advertising your project. Use nonprofit bulk mailing rates if possible.

Media advertising. Includes paid ads.

Supplies, postage and telephone. Anticipates expenses for office supplies, correspondence, and long distance telephone calls.

Equipment and facilities. Documents the value of rented or donated space and equipment. FFNHA grant funds can't be used to purchase equipment except under special circumstances. Place a fair market value on its use, based on the cost of renting or leasing it.

Printing and program materials. Includes program agendas, study guides, books, or interpretive pamphlets. In-house photocopying may be included as cost share.

Other. Expenses not covered in the previous line items. Clearly identify these expenses or they may not be funded. Institutions with a standard rate for indirect costs may include those here after prior consultation with FFNHA staff.

Project total. Includes grant funds and cost share.
